

Everbloomin' Alliums

Add a pop of color to your garden with these fun steel flowers. Mix them into your garden and or place them into your pots.

Screw each allium on top of a stake and push them into the ground. If necessary, you can gently bend the wires to form a uniform sphere.

The Alliums have a powder-coated steel finish, which is then hand painted over. There may be differences in the coloring. The finish is weather-resistant and can be left outdoors year-round. However, if the finish is nicked or scratched, use an exterior-grade metal paint to prevent rust.
