

Row Shelter Accelerator

Our Row Shelter Accelerator creates a cozy microclimate for young plants that helps get them off to a fast, healthy start in the garden. The greenhouse fabric shields plants from cold temperatures and harsh winds, so you can plant earlier. It also protects young plants from pests and grazing animals.

The Row Shelter Accelerator is easy to use; just zip up the ends of the shelter to form the shape. Place it over your plants and secure it with earth staples (sold separately) placed in the loops around the bottom.

It's perfect for getting a head start on your lettuce, basil, seedlings and other tender crops. Leave the Row Shelter Accelerator in place until your plants outgrow it or it is no longer needed. Make sure to remove the cover if any of the plants it is protecting begin blooming so pollinators can reach the flowers.

Hose or wipe off dirt at the end of the season, and dry thoroughly. Unzip the ends to collapse the shelter for convenient flat storage.
